PRINT OF THE MONTH

“Kristin”

Kristin.....

Ok, Kristin isn't actually 'a' print but a whole folio that I entered at our WPPA Fall state convention in October. It was the second highest scoring folio of the competition, coming in next to Fuzzy Duenkel who is a highly accomplished photographer from West Bend who's work I greatly admire. I am thrilled to come in second to him. The folio scored an 86 with very few folios scoring over 81. This folio along with my boy's folio, Jamus, helped me to earn second in combined sr. folios. Next year....working for first!

Amateur photographers are notorious for their instinct to center everything.
Unfortunately centered pictures aren't terribly dynamic or interesting.

Instead, learn to move your subject away from the middle of the frame.
A simple way to frame a photograph in this way is to follow the rule of thirds.
To do this, simply divide your frame up like a tic-tac-toe board and place your subject at any of the intersecting lines.

This may seem a bit awkward at first, but once you see the results you'll wonder what you were thinking placing all of your subjects in the center.
